

Rev. James Frazier, II

I am the eldest of two sons born to James and Mary Frazier. I attended Richmond's public school system and graduated from the Thomas Jefferson building of what used to be Jefferson-Huguenot-Wythe High School in 1981. Afterwards I completed Virginia Commonwealth University's (VCU) Pre-Pharmacy program and immediately enrolled into the Medical College of Virginia's School of Pharmacy. I received my B.S. in Pharmacy in 1986. Currently, I am the president of the Sickle Cell Association of Richmond and a board member of the Statewide Sickle Cell Chapters of Virginia.

Additionally, I anticipate graduating with a Master's of Divinity from the Samuel Dewitt Proctor School of Theology at Virginia Union University in the Spring of 2016. I am also an associate minister at Mosby Memorial Baptist Church where some of my duties include the Men's Sunday Fellowship, New Member Training and photographer. I am married to a wonderful woman, Deacon Debora Frazier, who only after God has been my greatest source of strength, support and love.
